II. OTHER ACTIVITIES

1. Conference Techniques No. 15 ended on 30 November.

2. The JOTs in the Intelligence Production Course started their second week in the OCI phase on 29 November. Their interest in and awareness of the problems of intelligence production were heightened by spending the entire day in OCI. The morning was taken up with briefings from the Special Intelligence Staff, whose Deputy Chief, Mr. [REDACTED] spent two hours with the group. His interest in the program is exceptionally high because he has two successful graduates in his staff.

B { In the afternoon the JOTs had individual conferences with desk analysts in the area of the JOTs' current assignment, the production of a weekly article. The cooperation of the OCI desk people and their supervisors was excellent, particularly in several areas where OCI is handling current crises. The impression made on the JOTs was matched by their impression on OCI. Several of the OCI desks have telephoned to comment on the caliber of the men they talked to and to express interest in seeing the product the particular JOT turns out.
